Alexander Hall Privacy Policy

At Alexander Hall we are committed to ensuring that your privacy is protected. This privacy policy, together with our Terms and Conditions and any other notice referred to in it, explains how we will collect your personal data and how we use your personal data when you visit our website.

Alexander Hall Limited is data controller in respect of the personal data processed when you visit our website. If you have any questions or concerns in relation to this Privacy policy you can contact our Compliance Team at DPAconsents@alexanderhall.co.uk or by writing to the Compliance Team, Alexander Hall Associates Limited, 137-144 High Holborn, London WC1V 6PL.

This website and the services we offer are not intended for children.

This privacy policy was last amended in August 2022. It supersedes any earlier version.

Third-party links

This website may include links to third party websites, plug-ins or applications which may allow third parties to collect or share your personal data. We are not responsible for their use of your personal data and cannot control it.

1. What information we may collect and how we use it

As a business we collect, use, store and transfer different types of personal data depending on who you are.

If you are applying for a mortgage or insurance policy through Alexander Hall, we collect and use your personal data in order for us to provide you with our services. The personal data we collect and use may include:

- Identity Data (name, marital status, title, date of birth, gender, username and password, purchases made by you, your interests and preferences, feedback and survey responses)
- Special Category Data, for example, data concerning a person's health, ethnicity and race, details of criminal offence / convictions, details about vulnerable people in your household, such as children or elderly people (and we may ask for their ages and dates of birth and information about any special requirements they may have) or other information we may require to comply with guidelines on matters of public health or concern (e.g. Covid-19).
- Contact Data (billing address, delivery address, email address and telephone numbers)

How we use Special Category Personal Data

Special Category personal data by its nature requires extra protection. Type of special category personal data we may collect include data concerning a person's health, ethnicity and race, religion, sexual orientation, details of criminal offence / convictions, details about children in households (ages and dates of birth, etc).

An example would be collecting data in relation to a health condition or disability for a client so that our staff can be aware of this and make reasonable adjustments to the service provided to support the additional needs a client may have as a result of this.

We process special category data where we have one of the following additional bases of processing:

Your explicit Consent (Article 9 (2) (a))

For example: you have provided your consent (including by interacting with us)

For the purposes of employment and social security (Article 9 (2) (b) GDPR)

For example, we need to comply with employment law

You had already made the personal data publicly available (Article 9 (2) (e) GDPR)

For example, the Electoral Roll or bankruptcy register

To establish, exercise or defend a legal claim (Article 9 (2) (f) GDPR)

For example, where we need to take or defend legal action

Where we have reasonable suspicion of money laundering Schedule 1, Part 2, Paragraph 15 DPA 2018

Suspicion of money laundering:

For example, during our compliance with Anti-Money Laundering laws

We may also process Criminal conviction data under • Schedule 1, Part 3, Paragraph 33 DPA 2018 Legal claims and/or under the list of exemptions under Schedule 2 DPA 2018

We may also use business partners from time to time (for example GB Group Plc) who do collect this type of data about you and you can find more details about this from their privacy policy.

Marketing

You have the right to withdraw your consent for us to use your personal data for marketing purposes at any time. You also have the right to withdraw consent for us to pass your information to third parties for marketing purposes. If you do withdraw your consent, this will result in us ceasing to market goods and services to you.

You can ask us to stop sending you marketing messages at any time by:

- following the opt-out links on any marketing message sent to you; or
- contacting us at any time by emailing DPAconsents@alexanderhall.co.uk or by calling 08000 38 37 36 and asking to speak to the Compliance department.

If you do withdraw your consent to receiving marketing messages, we will still process your personal data in order to fulfil our contract with you and in accordance with our legal, accountancy and regulatory obligations.

If you no longer wish to be contacted by third parties for marketing purposes, please follow the instructions in their marketing communications, or consult their privacy policies about how to unsubscribe.

Third-party marketing

We will get your express opt-in consent before we share your personal data with any company outside Alexander Hall for marketing purposes.

Cookies

The Alexander Hall website and applications may automatically collect data about how you use our services in order to help us improve future functionality. We use Google Analytics, which is a web analysis service provided by Google.

The cookies on the Alexander Hall website do not track, collect or upload data such as your name, email address or billing information, but it may collect data about your equipment and browsing activities. We may collect and report on the adoption and usage of specific features, crashes and exceptions and other useful, anonymous metrics.

Certain devices can detect your approximate location, via latitude and longitude. The accuracy of this data is not in the control of Alexander Hall. If this feature is requested, Alexander Hall will prompt you to provide your permission to access your location data for the purposes of providing you with results or directions based on your current location. You can disable location settings within your browser or app.

To read more about our use of cookies on the Alexander Hall website, please consult our cookie policy <https://www.alexanderhall.co.uk/about/cookies.html>.

4. Disclosures of your Personal Data

We may have to share your personal data with the parties set out below for the purposes set out in the "Purposes for which we will use your personal data" table above. We have agreements in place with our third parties that restrict their use of your personal data. We only allow third parties to use your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

Anti-money laundering

Alexander Hall is committed to operating its business in a transparent and open manner consistent with our legal and regulatory obligations. We are aware that the real estate industry is a target for organised criminals seeking to launder the proceeds of criminal activity. We always seek to prevent this activity by cooperating fully with the authorities and reporting suspicious activity to the National Crime Agency.

As part of this commitment, we adopt a strict compliance of all Anti-Money Laundering rules, with specific emphasis on the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002, the Money Laundering Regulations 2017, the Bribery Act 2010 and the Terrorism Act 2000.

Alexander Hall's policy commitment is applicable to all of our customers. As a result we obtain and hold for a period of at least five years evidence pertaining to our customers' identity and, where appropriate, we obtain proof of ownership of property and source/destination of funds. We will be unable to proceed with any work on behalf of our customers if we are unable to obtain this information. Customers' identity may also be subject to an electronic identity check, which may also include a credit check.

5. Data Security

Once we have received your personal data we will use reasonable and necessary procedures and security features to try and prevent unauthorised access. For example, we limit who can access your personal data to those individuals and third parties who need to know it and who are subject to a duty of confidentiality. If we become aware of a data breach we will notify the Information Commissioner's Office. If we believe that the data breach is serious, we may notify you in accordance with our legal requirements.

6. International Transfers

We will not transfer your personal data outside of the European Economic Area, except to a country offering the same level of protection for your personal data. For example, with certain service providers we may use specific contracts approved by the European Commission which ensures that your personal data has the same protection as it would have in Europe.

7. Data Retention

We hold on to your personal data whilst you use our services (or whilst we provide services connected to you) and for at least seventy five years thereafter, for legal, regulatory and accounting purposes. If we need to hold on to your personal data for longer, we take into consideration the potential risks in continuing to store your data against why we might need to keep it. In some circumstances we might anonymise your personal data so it is not associated with you, and we may then use this information indefinitely.

8. Your Legal Rights

Under data protection laws you have the right to protect and look after your personal data. You have the right to:

- ask us for the personal data that we hold and process about you (this is commonly known as a data subject access request). You have rights to the following information:
 - the purpose(s) for which we are processing your information;
 - the categories of personal information we hold about you
 - the recipients or categories of recipient to whom the personal data have been or will be disclosed;
 - the period for which we will store your information, or the criteria used to determine that period;
- prevent the use of your personal data for marketing purposes by informing a Alexander Hall telephone operator or by ticking the relevant boxes on the data collection forms (please note that even if you refuse marketing, we will still contact you to discuss the services you have asked us to provide to you or to tell you about changes to our terms and conditions);
- ask that any inaccurate information we hold about you is corrected;
- ask that we delete the personal data we hold about you in certain situations;
- ask that we stop using your personal data for certain purposes;
- ask that we do not make decisions about you using completely automated means; and/or
- ask that personal data we hold about you is given to you, or where technically feasible a third party chosen by you, in a commonly used, machine-readable format.

The rights listed above may apply in certain circumstances, and so we may not always be able to comply with your request to exercise these rights. We will usually respond to a request from you to exercise your rights within 1 month of receipt, but it might take longer if your request is particularly complex or if you have made a number of requests.

Please be aware that we may need to process your personal data and/or request specific information from you to help us comply with your request, including obtaining proof of your identity before releasing information to you. You will not usually have to pay a fee to exercise these rights, but we reserve the right to if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive, alternatively we may refuse to comply with your request.

Complaints and Feedback

If you would like to speak to us about how we handle your personal data, please contact our Compliance team in the first instance at DPAconsents@alexanderhall.co.uk. You can also complain to the Information Commissioner's Office who is the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues.
